

SPECIFICATION

Please amend the specification as follows:

[0033] The mini bar 10, as a vending machine, can deliver a selection of product units to a delivery chute 20 that is inserted into the front side of the mini bar. In the front side, there is also an exhibition display for the displaying of the various goods, for example, boxes 12, bottles 14, chocolate 16 and boxes of candy 2818. The purchased product units that are released into the chute 20 can correspond to the sizes that are shown in the display, but can also be different.

[0038] A lobby bar that is placed in the common areas is technically regarded as a mini bar. In addition, it is equipped as a standard vending machine that can be operated by coin insertion 34, or by the use of a credit card/mobile telephone insert 32. The data processor of the lobby bar is further set up to register the authorization of a user via his room key to take out products from the lobby bar that is subjected to restrictions.

[0043] The data unit 40 is connected to the keyboard/screen 47 28, 30 to be programmed by an operator that can be the staff in the reception of the hotel where guests check in and out.
